Programme:
How can interns find a job after a pandemic? How can they increase their opportunities, and what should interns focus on as they begin their careers? This session, created by interns for interns across Geneva, aims to bring a better understanding of what we can expect in the post-pandemic job market, to provide practical advice and to respond to interns’ current concerns and questions.

We will hear from Thomas Neufing, chief of the Centre for Learning and Multilingualism at UN Geneva, Maria Prieto, Employment and future of work specialist at ILO, and Camille Chambinaud, Young UN member, who will each give their different perspectives on the issues at hand.

Do you have questions that you would like our speakers to answer? Ask them in advance (Google Form: https://bit.ly/3cAFTTf) or during the event. Please note no registration is necessary for this event, which will be accessible here: https://bit.ly/2B7UwiV
